

A NARCHIST BOOKFAIR 2009

Saturday
24th October
(10am-7pm)

ANARCHIST BOOKFAIR 2009

Saturday 24th October

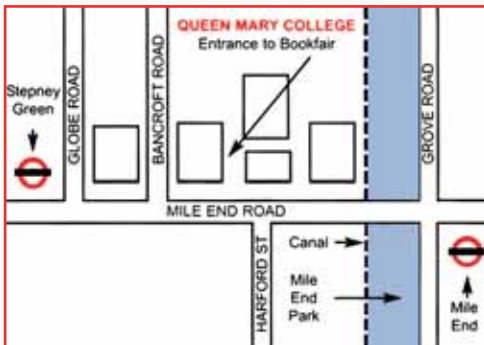

10am - 7pm

All over the world people are showing their anger at the destruction of our planet, our communities and our lives in the name of profit and greed. The last year has seen resistance to state repression, in our workplaces and on our streets, in defence of our communities and our planet. No one is fooled anymore. Not by the government, not by the capitalists and certainly not by the cops.

One part of this resistance is anarchism. Anarchism is anti-authoritarian class struggle. It is people organising together for a better world now and in the future. Against the insanity of the modern world anarchism is militant commonsense.

Every year the London anarchist bookfair brings together anarchist groups and revolutionaries from all over the country and beyond. It's a chance to spread ideas and discussion, to promote action and resistance. From direct action campaigns against climate change and grass roots workplace and community organising to international solidarity and resistance to borders you'll find out how anarchists are building a militant movement.

There'll be stalls, films and meetings to show how anarchists are working for a better world. But above all it's a space to meet likeminded people, to find out more about anarchist politics and anti-authoritarian resistance.

Anarchist bookfair 2009

Venue: Queen Mary & Westfield college,
Mile End Road, London E1 4NS
(please note the whole venue is non-smoking)

Transport: Mile End/ Stepney Green
tube. 25, 277, D6 bus

Access: There is full disabled access

Creche: Available for children 2-8 years old. Younger children welcome with carer. There will also be supervised space for older children.

www.anarchistbookfair.org

mail@anarchistbookfair.org